

Thomas Jefferson Medal for Outstanding Contributions to Natural Science

The Virginia Museum of Natural History Foundation invites nominations for its 29th Annual Thomas Jefferson Medal for Outstanding Contributions to Natural Science. This award will be given to a person who has made significant scientific contributions in the broad area of natural history. The award will be presented during a special ceremony in March 2016 at a venue to be announced in October 2015.

Award Criteria

- Nominees must be individuals who have consistently made outstanding contributions to natural history
- Nominees must be (1) a Native of Virginia; (2) work or have worked in a recognized Virginia Institution; or 3) contributed to our understanding in the specific area of Virginia Natural History

Nominations

The letter of nomination should provide the following:

- Full description of the outstanding contributions to natural science for which the person is being nominated
- The nominee's full name, title, home and work addresses, telephone numbers and e-mail address
- Name, address, phone number, e-mail address, and signature of the person making the nomination
- Letters of support from individuals other than person making nomination

Materials that document the nominee's accomplishments can also be submitted but are not required. This normally includes a resume, newspaper articles, and other materials that support the nomination. We can only accept materials that can be readily photocopied for distribution to the selection committee. No materials will be returned. Contact Charlotte Harter at 276-634-4162 or charlotte.harter@vmnh.virginia.gov for additional information. Send the complete nomination package to:

Nominations must be received no later than December 4, 2015.

The Virginia Museum of Natural History Foundation's Thomas Jefferson Awards were established in 1987 to honor individuals, associates, and corporations who have made significant contributions to the natural sciences in Virginia. The awards are named for Virginians, by birth or adoption, who have established traditions of excellence in the world of science and who have brought recognition and prestige to the Commonwealth.
