

W. Bruce Wingo Conservation Award

The Virginia Museum of Natural History Foundation invites nominations for the W. Bruce Wingo Conservation Award. This award, part of the VMNH Foundation Thomas Jefferson Awards, will be presented to an individual, business, or organization in recognition of significant conservation efforts in Virginia.

Award Criteria

- Nominees must be an individual, business, or organization which has demonstrated significant conservation efforts in Virginia.

Nominations

The letter of nomination should provide the following:

- Full description of the significant conservation efforts in Virginia for which the individual, business, or organization is being nominated
- The nominee's full name, title, home and work addresses, telephone numbers and e-mail address
- Name, address, phone number, e-mail address, and signature of the person making the nomination
- Letters of support from individuals other than person making nomination

Materials that document the nominee's accomplishments can also be submitted but are not required. This normally includes a resume, newspaper articles, and other materials that support the nomination.

We can only accept materials that can be readily photocopied for distribution to the selection committee. No materials will be returned. Contact Charlotte Harter at charlotte.harter@vmnh.virginia.gov for additional information. Send the complete nomination package to:

Nominations must be received no later than November 10, 2023.

The Virginia Museum of Natural History Foundation's Thomas Jefferson Awards were established in 1987 to honor individuals, associates, and corporations who have made significant contributions to the natural sciences in Virginia. The awards are named for Virginians, by birth or adoption, who have established traditions of excellence in the world of science and who have brought recognition and prestige to the Commonwealth.
